Relationship with Shareholders and Investors

Information Disclosure

Approaches to Information Disclosure
Tokyo Electron is committed to disclosing information about the Company in a fair, prompt and accurate manner, to ensure that all stakeholders, including shareholders and investors, can obtain an accurate, in-depth understanding of the Company and its activities in order to evaluate the Company’s corporate value appropriately. The Company also solicits feedback from its stakeholders as part of its information disclosure activities, then uses the feedback as a point of reference to guide corporate management.

Information Disclosure Methods
Tokyo Electron releases timely disclosure information via the Tokyo Stock Exchange’s “Timely Disclosure Network” (TD-net), and will post the same information promptly on its corporate website. Even when it does not fall into the category of material information, we voluntarily disclose information which may be of interest to shareholders in a fair, accurate, and easy-to-understand manner, through various means of communication, including on our website or in printed form.

To ensure that foreign investors have fair and equal access to this information, we strive to disclose all information simultaneously in Japanese and English.

Communicating with Shareholders and Investors

Annual Shareholders Meeting
To encourage lively discussions at annual shareholders meetings and to encourage shareholders to exercise their voting rights, invitations are sent out early—more than three weeks prior to the meeting—and for the convenience of our shareholders, we work to avoid the date when most major Japanese companies hold their shareholders meetings. Tokyo Electron participates in the web-based voting platform for institutional investors operated by Investor Communications Japan Inc. (ICJ).

Tokyo Electron’s website carries notices of convocation, notices of resolution and materials for annual shareholders meetings. An English version of the notice of convocation for the annual shareholders meeting is also provided.

Quarterly Financial Conference
Tokyo Electron conducts meetings to discuss its financial results with securities analysts and investors; these meetings are also open to members of the press. The Company makes audio recordings of its fiscal year-end and mid-term financial results meetings, and posts these recordings on the Company’s website. All of the documents distributed at its quarterly financial results meetings are also posted on the website.
